Our managing partner, Kieran Moynihan, delivered a presentation this morning at the London Stock Exchange to a group of listed companies on “High-performing board teams and the value of external board evaluations”. There was great engagement from the listed companies present and Kieran was very proud to share the stage with our London-based partners First Flight (non-exec recruitment) and MM&K (remuneration consultancy). Kieran focused on the characteristics that underpin the highest performing board teams and their ongoing focus on continually improving their board effectiveness and excelling on behalf of their shareholders and stakeholders. At a time of major scrutiny of the quality of external board evaluation for listed companies, Kieran outlined how a constructive robust honest external board evaluation embraced by a board team can enable a board team to drive strong sustainable improvement in their board effectiveness and performance.

If you would like to receive a copy of Kieran's presentation, please e-mail kieran@boardexcellence.co.uk and he would be delighted to share it with you.
